However, Musashino University is not responsible for any associated individual damages incurred by the examinees. If such adaptive measures are to be taken, they will be listed on Musashino University website (<https://www.musashino-u.ac.jp/>). Please check the website for details.

Points to Note in Connection with the Enforcement of the Act Commonly Known as the "Child Sexual Violence Prevention Act" For Those Who Plan to Apply (Enter) to Musashino University

In June 2024, Japan enacted the Act on Measures to Prevent Child-Targeted Sexual Violence by School Operators and Private Education/Childcare Providers (Act No. 69 of 2024) (hereinafter the "Child Sexual Violence Prevention Act.").

After enforcement (scheduled for December 25, 2026), verification of whether an individual has a prior conviction for a specified sexual offence may be carried out under the Child Sexual Violence Prevention Act before said individual can participate in practical training and similar activities (e.g., practicums, internships, and volunteer activities) to obtain a teaching license. Under the preventive measures set out in the law, individuals confirmed through this process to have such a prior conviction are barred from participating in practicums and other activities at schools and similar settings that involve interactions with children, based on a determination that they pose a risk of child-targeted sexual violence. This means such individuals may not be able to obtain a teaching license or earn course credits.

Those who wish to obtain a teaching license or apply to a department that offers practicums that involve interactions with children are asked to fully understand the above before deciding whether to apply (to enter).

- * "Children" refers to preschoolers, elementary school children, junior high school students, and senior high school students.
For more information on the Child Sexual Violence Prevention Act, please refer to the Children and Families Agency website.
